2 of the abbreviations [‘co.,’ ‘corp.,’ ‘inc.,’ ‘ltd.’], or words or abbreviations of like import in other
3 languages” appearing in clause (i) thereof and substituting in lieu of said phrase the following: “(or
4 abbreviations thereof, with or without punctuation), or words (or abbreviations thereof, with or without
5 punctuation) of like import of foreign countries or jurisdictions”.

6 Section 2. Amend Title 8, Delaware Code, by adding a new section 111, which shall read as 7 follows:

8 “§111. Interpretation and enforcement of the certificate of incorporation and 9 bylaws.

10 Any action to interpret, apply or enforce the provisions of the certificate of 11 incorporation or the bylaws of a corporation may be brought in the Court of 12 Chancery.”

13 Section 3. Amend Section 170(a), Title 8, Delaware Code, by deleting from the first

“§202. Restrictions on transfer and ownership of securities.

(a) A written restriction or restrictions on the transfer or registration of transfer of a security of a corporation, or on the amount of the corporation’s securities that may be owned by any person or group of persons, if permitted by this section and noted conspicuously on the certificate or certificates representing the security or securities so restricted or, in the case of uncertificated shares, contained in the notice or notices sent pursuant to subsection (f) of §151 of this title, may be enforced against the holder of the restricted security or securities or any successor or transferee of the holder including an executor, administrator, trustee, guardian or other fiduciary entrusted with like responsibility for the person or estate of the holder. Unless noted conspicuously on the certificate or certificates representing the security or securities so restricted or, in the case of uncertificated shares, contained in the notice or notices sent pursuant to subsection (f) of §151 of this title, a restriction, even though permitted by this section, is ineffective except against a person with actual knowledge of the restriction.

(b) A restriction on the transfer or registration of transfer of securities of a corporation, or on the amount of a corporation’s securities that may be owned by any person or group of persons, may be imposed by the certificate of incorporation or by the bylaws or by an agreement among any number of security holders or among such holders and the corporation. No restrictions so imposed shall be binding with respect to securities issued prior to the adoption of the restriction unless the holders of the securities are parties to an agreement or voted in favor of the restriction.

(c) A restriction on the transfer or registration of transfer of securities of a corporation or on the amount of such securities that may be owned by any person or group of persons is permitted by this section if it:

40 (1) Obligates the holder of the restricted securities to offer to the corporation or to 41 any other holders of securities of the corporation or to any other person or to any combination of 42 the foregoing, a prior opportunity, to be exercised within a reasonable time, to acquire the 43 restricted securities; or

44 (2) Obligates the corporation or any holder of securities of the corporation or any
45 other person or any combination of the foregoing, to purchase the securities which are the subject
46 of an agreement respecting the purchase and sale of the restricted securities; or

47 (3) Requires the corporation or the holders of any class or series of securities of the 48 corporation to consent to any proposed transfer of the restricted securities or to approve the 49 proposed transferee of the restricted securities, or to approve the amount of securities of the 50 corporation that may be owned by an person or group of persons; or

51 (4) Obligates the holder of the restricted securities to sell or transfer an amount of 52 restricted securities to the corporation or to any other holders of securities of the corporation or to
53 any other person or to any combination of the foregoing, or causes or results in the automatic sale
54 or transfer of an amount of restricted securities to the corporation or to any other holders of 55 securities of the corporation or to any other person or to any combination of the foregoing; or

56 (5) Prohibits or restricts the transfer of the restricted securities to, or the ownership
57 of restricted securities by, designated persons or classes of persons or groups of persons, and such 58 designation is not manifestly unreasonable.

59 (d) Any restriction on the transfer or the registration of transfer of the securities of a
60 corporation, or on the amount of securities of a corporation that may be owned by a person or
61 group of persons, for any of the following purposes shall be conclusively presumed to be for a
62 reasonable purpose:

63 (1) maintaining any local, state, federal, or foreign tax advantage to the corporation
64 or its stockholders, including without limitation (i) maintaining the corporation's status as an

(2) The name of the other entity immediately prior to the filing of the certificate of conversion;

(3) The name of the corporation as set forth in its certificate of incorporation filed in accordance with subsection (b) of this section; and

(g) Prior to filing a certificate of conversion with the office of the Secretary of State, the conversion shall be approved in the manner provided for by the document, instrument, agreement or other writing, as the case may be, governing the internal affairs of the other entity and the conduct of its business or by applicable law, as appropriate, and a certificate of incorporation shall be approved by the same authorization required to approve the conversion.

(a) A corporation of this State may, upon the authorization of such conversion in accordance with this section, convert to a limited liability company, limited partnership or business trust of this State.

(b) The board of directors of the corporation which desires to convert under this section shall adopt a resolution approving such conversion, specifying the type of entity into which the corporation shall be converted and recommending the approval of such conversion by the stockholders of the corporation. Such resolution shall be submitted to the stockholders of the corporation at an annual or special meeting. Due notice of the time, and purpose of the meeting shall be mailed to each holder of stock, whether voting or nonvoting, of the corporation at the address of the stockholder as it appears on the records of the corporation, at least 20 days prior to the date of the meeting. At the meeting, the resolution shall be considered and a vote taken for its adoption or rejection. If all outstanding shares of stock of the corporation, whether voting or nonvoting, shall be voted for the adoption of the resolution, the corporation shall file with the Secretary of State a certificate of conversion executed in accordance with § 103 of this title, which certifies:

(1) The name of the corporation, and if it has been changed, the name under which it was originally incorporated;

(2) The date of filing of its original certificate of incorporation with the Secretary of State;

Such certificate of the Secretary of State shall be prima facie evidence of the conversion by such corporation.

(d) The conversion of a corporation pursuant to a certificate of conversion under this section shall not be deemed to affect any obligations or liabilities of the corporation incurred prior to such conversion or the personal liability of any person incurred prior to such conversion.

(e) After the time the certificate of conversion becomes effective the corporation shall continue to exist as a limited liability company, limited partnership or business trust of this State, and the laws of this State shall apply to the entity to the same extent as prior to such time.

(f) Unless otherwise provided in a resolution of conversion adopted in accordance with this section, the converting corporation shall not be required to wind up its affairs or pay its liabilities and distribute its assets, and the conversion shall not constitute a dissolution of such corporation and shall constitute a continuation of the existence of the converting corporation in the form of the applicable other entity of this State."

Section 12. Amend Section 391(a), Title 8, Delaware Code, by adding new paragraphs (25) and (26), which paragraphs shall read as follows:

"(25) For receiving and filing and/or indexing by the Secretary of State of a certificate of conversion and certificate of incorporation prescribed in § 265 of this title, a fee of $50, plus the tax and fee payable upon the receipt for filing of an original certificate of incorporation, shall be paid.

194 (26) For receiving and filing and/or indexing by the Secretary of State of a 195 certificate of conversion prescribed in § 266 of this title, a fee of $50 shall be paid."
196 Section 13. This Act shall become effective July 1, 1999.

SYNOPSIS

Section 1. The amendment to Section 102(a)(1) provides that punctuation is optional in abbreviations of corporate names and that words (or abbreviations thereof) of foreign countries or jurisdictions, including, but not limited to, foreign countries or jurisdictions using the English language, designating corporate status are acceptable for purposes of Section 102(a)(1).

Section 2. Section 111 is new. It clarifies that the Court of Chancery may entertain actions to interpret, apply or enforce any provision of the certificate of incorporation or bylaws of a corporation, regardless of whether there is some independent basis for subject matter jurisdiction in that court. Section 111 is not intended to limit in any way the subject matter jurisdiction of the Court of Chancery established under preexisting law.

Section 3. The language of Section 170(a) has been revised to make clear that dividends may be declared and paid by nonstock nonprofit corporations as well as nonstock for profit corporations.

Section 4. The amendments to Section 202 clarify that reasonable written restrictions on the amount of a corporation's securities that may be owned by any person or group of persons are permitted under the General Corporation Law. Subsection (c) of Section 202 has been amended to provide that a restriction on transfer or ownership generally is permitted by Section 202 if it obligates the holder of restricted securities to sell or transfer restricted securities or if it causes or results in the automatic sale or transfer of restricted securities. The amendment to subsection (d) clarifies that maintaining or preserving tax attributes (including net operating losses) and qualifying a corporation as a real estate investment trust are among the tax advantages that are conclusively presumed to constitute a reasonable purpose for imposing restrictions on transfer or ownership. Subsection (d) also has been amended to provide that restrictions imposed for the purpose of maintaining any statutory or regulatory advantage or complying with any statutory or regulatory requirements under applicable law are conclusively presumed to be for a reasonable purpose.

The amendments to Section 202 regarding restrictions on the amounts of securities that may be owned by any person or group are not intended to impact existing law relating to other types of limitations or restrictions on the rights of security holders based on the amount of securities owned, such as limitations on voting rights, conversion rights, or redemption rights.

Section 5. The amendments to Section 242(b)(3) are intended to delete as redundant the requirement for a second meeting of the governing body of a nonstock corporation in connection with the amendment of its certificate of incorporation and to clarify the procedures for adopting such an amendment where a vote of the members of such corporation is required by the certificate of incorporation.

Section 6. This section retitles Subchapter IX of the General Corporation Law to include the concept of conversion, conforming to the addition of new §§ 265 and 266 to such subchapter.

Section 7. The amendment to Section 251(g) clarifies that a vote of the holding company's stockholders is not required to elect or remove directors of a subsidiary (surviving) corporation and that the certificate of incorporation of a subsidiary (surviving) corporation need not be amended to so provide.

Section 8. The amendment to Section 253(a) provides that the 90% ownership requirement applies only to a class of stock of which there are outstanding shares that would otherwise be entitled to vote on the merger, so that, if the only outstanding shares of a class of stock are shares that would otherwise not be entitled to vote on the merger, then the 90% ownership requirement for effecting a short form merger would not apply to such class of stock.

Section 9. The amendment to Section 255(c) conforms the vote of the members required to approve a merger of a nonstock corporation to the vote required to approve a merger of a stock corporation by changing the required vote from a two-thirds vote to a majority vote of the members.

Section 10. This section adds a new § 265 of the Act which provides that any limited liability company, limited partnership or business trust of this State may convert to a corporation of this State upon obtaining the requisite approval of a certificate of conversion and a certificate of incorporation by such converting entity, and the filing of such certificate of conversion and certificate of incorporation with the Secretary of State. Such conversion shall not affect any obligations or liabilities of the converting entity incurred prior to its conversion or the personal liability of any person incurred prior to such conversion.

Section 11. This section adds a new § 266 of the Act which provides that any corporation of this State may convert to a limited liability company, limited partnership or business trust of this State upon obtaining the requisite approval, including the approval of the holders of all outstanding shares of stock of the corporation, whether voting or nonvoting, and the filing of a certificate of conversion with the Secretary of State. Such conversion shall not affect any obligations or liabilities of the converting corporation incurred prior to its conversion or the personal liability of any person incurred prior to such conversion.

Section 12. The additions of subsections (a)(25) and (a)(26) to § 391 provide the applicable fees in connection with filings under §§ 265 and 266.

Section 13. Section 13 provides for an effective date of July 1, 1999.
